ITINERARY

DAY 1

You'll be greeted at the Grand Junction Airport by the Land Rover Team, who are, from that moment on, dedicated to making your stay comfortable and convenient.

They'll take you to the picturesque Red Cliffs Lodge on the banks of the Colorado River for a few welcome drinks and introductions to your fellow adventurers, before dinner in the private dining room.

DAY 2

After a hearty breakfast and a short comprehensive briefing, you'll be ready for the formidable Seven Mile Rim trail. Your adventure opens big, and along this drive you'll see the iconic Merrimac Butte and Determination Towers, as well as the extraordinary and gravity-defying Uranium Arch.

Lunch will be served on the trail, making it probably the most scenic al fresco venue anywhere in the world. Swap stories with your fellow adventurers as you all grow more confident in your ability to manoeuvre your Land Rover vehicles across this challenging terrain.

Dinner at the Desert Bistro Restaurant in Moab is the perfect setting for stories, and appetites, built to heroic proportions on the trail.

DAY 3

Breakfast portions tend to increase on Day 3, as people realise how high-energy and exhilarating these trails are. Today is no exception, featuring the breathtaking Poison Spider trail.

Flanked by the stunning Moab landscape and the Colorado River, the sloping rock layers are your most exciting test yet. Enjoy lunch on a scenic trail before heading back out to complete your second trail of the day and rock-crawl your way into the magnificent sunset.

Tonight's dinner will be held around a traditional camp fire where you can swap off-roading stories with your fellow drivers over a delicious barbecue feast.

DAY 4

Breakfast and briefings lead on to the third and ultimate trail. There's a reason the legendary Hell's Revenge trail is saved for last, as it demands all the skills and nerve you've honed over the past two days.

Steep climbs and descents make up most of the trail meaning this is not one for the faint of heart. But of course, our expert instructors will be there to guide you along every step of the way.

Lunch will be served on the trail allowing you to catch your breath and soak up these incredible vistas for a final time.

Your farewell dinner will be a private function where certificates and speeches will be presented.

DAY 5

If you're on a later flight, or simply not ready to stop just yet, you can partake in one of the many activities on offer in Moab where all the culture, shopping, and sights are at your disposal.

At Red Cliffs Lodge, you can sign up to see the desert from a whole new vantage of a horseback trek, or wind down from all the excitement with a sports massage and a relaxing soak in the hot tub.

ACCOMMODATION

Land Rover Adventure Travel Moab is about more than just rock crawling. It is about experiencing Moab in a vividly authentic way, which is why the rustic elegance of the Red Cliffs Lodge is such a central part of the journey.

The lodge's panoramic views of the Colorado River will greet you every morning and night with spectacular scenery. Each room and suite is designed to evoke the hardy frontier spirit of the West, with solid log furniture, knotty pine accents, and earthy stucco palettes.

The food and wine are world-class, but it is the company of your fellow explorers that makes the stay exceptional. This is your retreat after the exhilarating fun of the trail, where you share stories of the day that are both entertaining and inspiring.

The lodge is also home to the award-winning Castle Creek Winery, and offers a range of activities. Everything from discovering the area's rich history of movie making in the Moab Movie Museum, improving your handicap on the Moab golf course, or simply unwinding in the pool or hot tub. With so many things to see and do, Red Cliffs Lodge is your relaxing base at the heart of a colossal adventure.
